

Dr. Hans-Peter Raddatz (DE)
Scholar for Islamic Studies and Author
Munich

Born in 1941. Hans-Peter Raddatz graduated in Islamic science and economics from Bonn University.

He represented international banks and corporations in the Middle East and the United States. In addition, Hans-Peter Raddatz developed a business in global financial data analysis and correlation. He later also started to support the public Islam discussion in Europe with several contributions.

Now his research, analysis and practical experience join in scientific works analysing the historical and contemporary links and gaps between the Islam and the West in religious, legal and cultural civilisation as well as actual power politics.

Hans-Peter Raddatz belongs to the few German scientists whose contributions have been accepted by the "Encyclopaedia of Islam", a renowned reference of international Islam research.

He is also the author of "Von Gott zu Allah?", "Von Allah zum Terror?" and "Allahs Schleier – die Frau im Kampf der Kulturen".
